Danube Swabians of the U.S.A.

Minutes of the Annual Meeting of the Association of the Danube Swabians of the U.S.A.

April 26, 2025

American Aid Society, Lake Villa, IL

Some notes from the minutes.....

“Minutes of the Annual Meeting of the Association of the Danube Swabians of the U.S.A.

April 26, 2025 at the American Aid Society, Lake Villa, IL

The meeting was called to order by President Martini at 1:10 pm. The meeting began with a minute of silence for those Donauschwaben members who passed away in the last year in the various Danube Swabian organizations.

President Martini also told the assembly to pray for Leo Mayer and Robert Filippi who were both recovering from illness. The opening anthems were sung by all in attendance singing the National anthem and the Donauschwaben hymn. President Martini welcomed all the delegates and guests to the general meeting.

A special thank you was extended to President Robert Lengfelder and the American Aid Society for hosting this year's meeting. Marty Kunkle, Cultural Reporter from Cincinnati, read a poem called “Have Patience.” President Robert Lengfelder welcomed all the guests to the Donauschwaben Landesverband meeting, in Lake Villa, IL. His club was delighted to host this year. Putting on an event like this takes the efforts of our whole club and I thank all the members/volunteer for all their help.

President Martini stated he is getting acclimated to his new role and thanks the Board for all their assistance. His main theme is to have cooperation, solve problems, come to resolutions, and future transitions of younger board leadership positions. President Martini stated he was very happy that many Jugend were in attendance to keep the culture alive. He reminded the assembly the Landesverband is an avenue for the audience to participate and present their voices. Virtual meetings are also held with the board and anyone can join. “

Who we are..... We are a National Association of clubs and organizations in the United States of America, united by a common heritage. Our ancestors were ethnic Germans referred to also as The Danube Swabians or (Donauschwaben). They traveled to the USA from countries that are today on the Balkan peninsula, Serbia, Romania, Hungary, Croatia and many others.

Together our memberships practice social, sports, cultural, historic and philanthropic traditions in the interest of our shared cultural heritage and community. Music, song, dancing, soccer and food characterize the individual organizations in cities across the country.

Each year we meet nationally for our Annual Meeting in April, for the National Soccer Tournament in May, and for our National Treffen or festival in September. While our traditions connect us as people, the friendships between clubs, individuals and families perpetuates the bonds of our Verband surely into the future !

Donauschwaben History & Culture

Club VP/Genealogist on TV

Club VP and Genealogist, Dennis J. Bauer has been asked to be a guest on the Family Historian HTTV TV Show (<https://httvonline.org/>) on July 2, 2025. Dennis was invited by host Stephen Conte to be a guest on the show and talk about the Donauschwaben. The program will be titled "Danube Swabian Genealogy". Stephen has hosted the local show out of Summit, NJ for some 37 years. It will be an honor to give a short overview of the Donauschwaben and some information on how to research ones Donauschwaben roots. Stephen is a wonderful host and he did a pre-show interview at Dennis' home on June 12th. We hope you turn-in, support and watch his other Genealogy shows. It will be as a nice "plug" for the Trenton Donauschwaben. Details to follow in the July-September newsletter.

Wekerledorf (Gajdobra)

A forgotten German village in South Batschka By Nikola Milivojević

Information about the village of Nova Gajdobra is quite scarce. The village of Kereky is mentioned in Hungarian sources in the immediate vicinity of the village in 1327. The settlement is mentioned again in the Hungarian census from 1512. It was inhabited mainly by South Slavs and Hungarians. Kereky consisted of a collection of dugouts and a semi-dungeon. Further mentions of the village can be found in Ottoman censuses from 1554, 1570 and 1590. It is precisely on the basis of these sources that we learn that the number of inhabitants of the settlement varied over time from 12 to 4, and then to 17 homes. In addition, from them we also learn that the settlement had several houses instead of dugouts and was inhabited exclusively by Serbs. The last mention of Kereky was recorded in the census from 1650.

Today's settlement was formed in 1885. It was founded by the Hungarian royal treasury on part of the attar of the village of Schönau (Gajdobra), i.e. in the Metković and Kereky wastelands.

The village of Wekerledorf, or Wekerlefulva in Hungarian, was named in 1894 in honor of the then Hungarian Minister of Finance Sándor Wekerle (In office: 17 November 1892 – 14 January 1895). Sándor Wekerle (14 November 1848 – 26 August 1921) was a Hungarian politician of Donauschwaben origin.

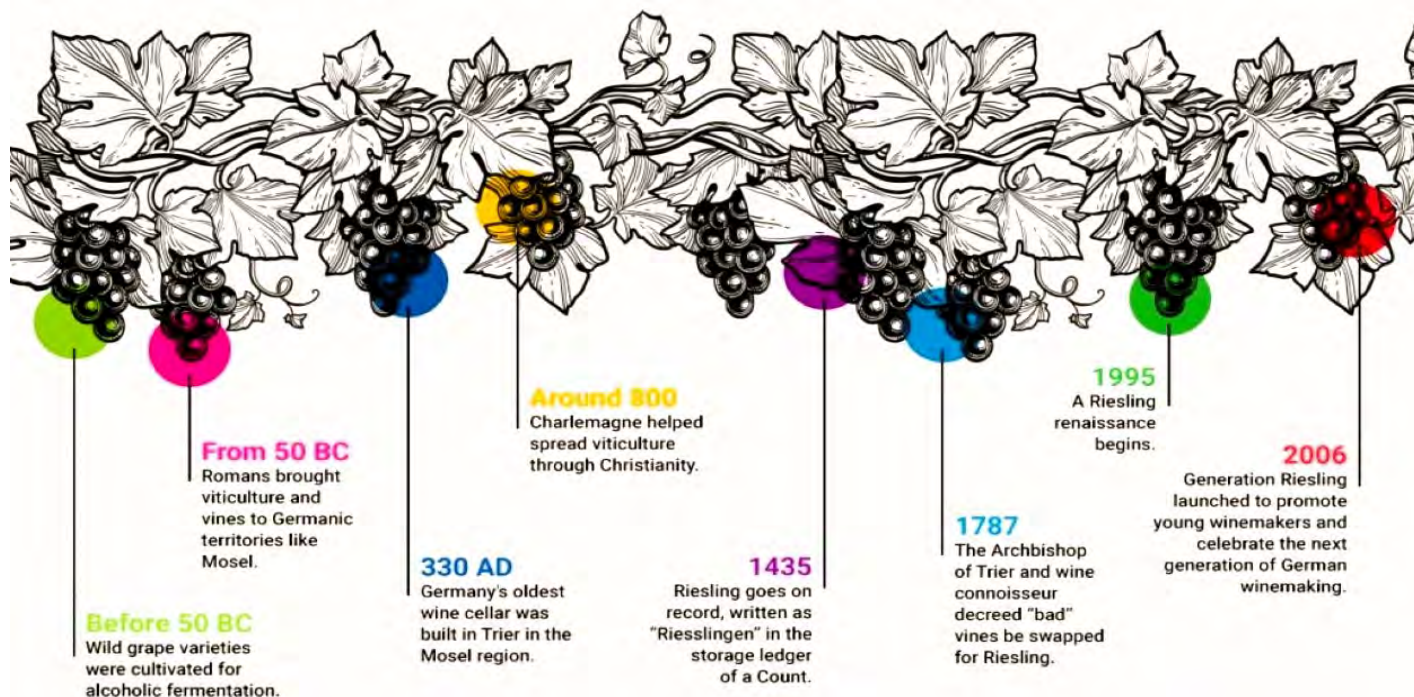

According to the census from 1900, the settlement had 1,114 inhabitants and 217 houses. The majority of the population consisted of ethnic Germans, 1074, followed by Hungarians, 25 inhabitants, Serbs, 5, and others. In the period from its establishment until the Second World War, the village belonged to the Palanka District. It functioned as an independent municipality.

From 1918 to 1941, together with the rest of Batschka, it was part of the Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, and later, from 1929, Yugoslavia. During the Second World War, from April 1941 to October 1944, Wekerledorf was under the administration of the Kingdom of Hungary. The German population fled the village from the summer of 1944 to December 1944 in advance of the Russian and Partisan troops. Those that remained suffered in concentration camps.

After the war, it was renamed Nova Gajdobra and settled by colonists from Bosnia and Herzegovina under Tito's Partisan government. **

THE HISTORY OF RIESLING

German Culture & More

A little Riesling history. The ancient Romans loved to drink, and after discovering viticulture, courtesy of the Greeks and Etruscans, wine was the drink of choice at the heart of Rome's culture.

And during their conquests of Germanic territories, some 2,000 years ago, they introduced viticulture... wine made from grapes wasn't known to the Teutons who drank mead, now many of Germany's best vineyards are located on what were Roman sites. With the country's first wine cellar, built in Trier around 330 AD, still in use today.

They even dedicated a God to wine and a good time, Bacchus, and the beautiful small town of Bacharach took its name, so legend goes, from the Celtic word "Baccaracum" - Baccarus' farm. Or from the Latin word "Bacchiara" - the altar of Bacchus.

As conquerors, Romans brought the first vines to the Moselle Valley, together with the knowledge of how to cultivate them, and by the 1850's Riesling was commanding higher prices than Bordeaux and Champagne.

SCHARER-BOHNERT

Miss Maria Bohnert of 145 Brunswick Avenue and Joseph Scharer of 250 Jersey Street, were married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St Francis Church on Front Street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev Thomas Rathner pastor of the church.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests went to the home of the bridegroom where a wedding supper was served. The table was prettily decorated with white roses and carnations. During the evening a chorus from the German Hungarian Singing Society of which Mr. Scharer is a member, rendered a number of selections.
